*Tour Highlights

Karakuri dolls, which can be said to be the origin of "Monozukuri (manufacturing technology) Aichi", were first made in the Edo era (1603-1868). Japan's only wooden karakuri doll maker, 9th generation Tamaya Shobei, continues to make karakuri dolls to this day.

At the Karakuri Museum, located at the foot of the national treasure Inuyama Castle, 9th generation Tamaya Shobei will demonstrate and explain Karakuri by moving the dolls himself. After the karakuri demonstration, you will be transported back in time to Japan in the Meiji era. At the end of the tour, you can enjoy all-you-can-drink beer and all-you-can-eat Korean BBQs at the beer brewery restaurant.

Please see below for application and details.
